The magic of Christmas

Olfactory proposals 2021 by Farotti S.r.l.

Christmas 2021

- Christmas, with its magic and its enchanted spirit, always brings with it a sparkle of scents capable of evoking its perfumes, flavors and warm atmosphere.
- Through a selection of 8 fragrances we thought to take you on an olfactory journey, to help you find the fragrance that best suits your projects.

Frankincense

- Burning resins and aromatic herbs is an ancient tradition and the use of incense is a practice still in use today. The 12 nights between December 24th and January 5th, called "incense nights" are considered a mysterious and magical period and it is believed that burning incense on those nights allows the body to better prepare for the new year, taking away the energies negative and focusing on the positive ones.

Mandarin

- Have you ever wondered why many associate citrus fruits, especially mandarins, with Christmas?
- Although the call of these fruits reminds us of images of beautiful sunny days, they typically don't ripen until the fall and winter months, so they are routinely seen as a signal for Christmas to come.
- They are also a traditional sock filler, thanks to a legend about Saint Nicholas.

Vanilla

- When you think of Christmas, your mind is projected into sparkling atmospheres: houses decorated for the holidays, stockings hanging from the fireplace, streets illuminated by decorative lights, gifts under the tree, the joy of being together, smiles, friends, family.
- If we close our eyes we can also smell it: freshly baked cookies, a steaming cake, the scent of vanilla, a greedy cuddle emblem of sweetness.

The incense with a metamorphic and magical character, transports us to an intimate and ethereal dimension. The intensity of cedarwood and vetiver, bonding with the depth of oak moss and the softness of talc, creates an atmosphere that promotes peace and harmony.
